MONDAY EVENING JANUARY 14

A REPUBLICAN delegation from Virginia, having in view the elevation of Gen. Ma bone to a seat in the Cabinet primarily, and an eye to the "main chance" when the di vision of the spails comes round secondari ly, if not also primarily, waited upon Presi dent elect Harrison as Indianapolis last Sat urday and were very courteously received, but, as to obtaining any promise, or even an inkling of that gentleman's intention, they might as well have appealed to the Sphinx for "never a word spoke he." According to an interview he said nothing ab ut the Cab inet, nothing about Mahoue "The fac : there wasn't a d-n point to anything h did say " And then the representatives of republicanism from this State left "delighted with their reception, delighted with Gen Harrison," but d ubtiess cus-ed mad all the The d-legation numbered two and twenty of the faithful follow-is of the little General, headed by Edmund Waddill, o Richmond, ex United States District Attor ney for the Eistern District, but W. E. Craiz, of S auuton, did most of the talking Then there were R B. Berkeley, of Prince Edward county; Asa Rogers, secretary o the republican State committee; H. B. Clay, of Warwick county; J S Bathel, of Rich. mond; A. H Liedsey; J B Webb, of Rock ingham; J. G. Newman, of Page county; P H. McCault, of Roanoke county; D. A W. S. Luny, from Harrisonburg. In hand ing in the recommendations, resolutions, &c., urging the appointment of Gen. Mahone, Col. Craig told Gen. Harrison that the South had to have a representative in the Cabinet, if the party's interests were to be consulted at all, and that Virginia was entitled to the naming of the representative man, and that Gen. Mahone was the only man who would be sati-factory to the party in the State. He declared that there was practically no opposition to Mahone in Virginia any more, and that at least ninety-nine out of a hundred republi cans wanted him in the next Cabinet In the documents presented to the Presi dent-elect stress is laid upon the fact that in 1881 it was the vote of Mahone that saved the national Senate for the republi cans, and as to the present condition of the party, the memorial points out that this year 150,000 republican votes were cast in the State, an increase of 70,000 since 1880. When the delegation retired we are told that Gen. Harrison carried the document into his library, tossed it upon the big table with a heap of similar documents, and wen out for a walk, so it is probable that Ma hone's boom rejoses with many score of other booms upon the table, unread and unthought-of by the President elect. A citiz n of Indianapolis told a reporter that "the delegation had come more for their loa than for Mahone's glorification What they wanted to impress on Gen. Har rison was that previous Presidents, in their endeavors to bring about a better political feeling in the South, made the mistake of sending men from the North as office hold ers in the South, and the policy of generous treatment towards democrats was also a failure." From Raleigh, N. C., comes an account of a row created there by a resolu tion adopted Wednesday night by a caucus of the rejublican members of the legislature indorsing Mahone for a Cabinet position. The vote was very close, and some Baine republicans who would have antagonized Mahone were not admitted to the caucus. Friday night there was another caucus The debate was long and heated and at til midnight, when a resolution was adop'

IN FRANCE interest centres more and more upon the Paris election, at which Boulanger intends to show that he is stronger than the republic. His chances have im proved decidedly, the royalists and Bonapartists having pracically come out in his favor, and he has decided upon a clever though risky political stroke. He will resign the seat which he occupies in the Chamber of Deputies, and so throw himself entirely upon the mercy of Paris electors, and they seem inclined to "give him a chance"

IN REPLY to a communication from Mr. Richard M. Smith of Randolph Macon College, who, with the assistance of others, Baltimore last week. proposes to make a new effort to settle the State debt, the foreign owners of Virginia bonds eay they will make even more reasonable concessions than those they last proposed, provided, however, they receive for any increased sacrifice of their just claims such increased security for the payment of the r mainder as, in the light of experience, they may consider absolutely indispensable cruel. for their protection. While any effort to receive the assistance of every well wisher of the State, "the light of experience" proves that no such attempt can be successful until a new legislature be elected. If a debt day of election will indeed be a red letter day in the history of Virginia.

In the first place; according to Mr Bar. bour, chairman of the State Central Com mittee, no sub committee was appointed to consider the subject referred to. In the sec ond place, if one had been appointed, and had made any recommendation on the subject, the only proper way the Governor could have treated that recommendation would have been to have resented it as an

WHAT CONCEIVABLE right this govern ment had to warn foreign governments egainst lending any assistance to the completion of the Panama canal, is what the people of other coun ries can not tell. Nor can the wise people of this country. That the government of Panama and of other Central American States should resent the interference is by no means strange. This Windsor, ex Postmaster of Al-xandria, and government has fully as much as it can well do to a tend to matters within its own in risdiction. It has no more legitimate bust ness with a canal in Panama than with one in the moon. At the same time that it warns foreign governments against having anything to do with the Papama canal, it charters a company for a canal in Nicara gua. Its action in respect of the subject referred to appears ridiculously abourd to the people of all other countries.

This is a truth which President Cleveland has not been able to learn though the teacher was sad personal experience.

WHOLESALE REMOVALS are to be made from the appraiser's office in the New York customs house, in which enormous frauds have been discovered, the appraiser being on, of the numerous republicans for whose place no democrat could be found by the present administration. Mr. Cleveland was elected upon the promise that the books would be examined and the rascal turned out. Now that his term of office is near its end, he has commenced to fufill that promise. He would have been re-elected if he had commenced it immediately after his inauguration, and kept it up.
